Bob Hope and Wife at White House

(Times News Services)

WASHINGTON — The stage was the White House garden. The straight man was President Kennedy. And Bob Hope was, as usual, top banana.

Hope, who has played them all, from the palace to fox holes, did not appear overawed by the ceremony Wednesday where he received from Kennedy a medal for "outstanding service to the cause of democracy throughout the world."

For only a moment did the president get into the act.

Noting that the medal had been voted by Congress, Kennedy ad-libbed: "This is the only bill we've gotten by lately."

From then on it was pretty much Hope's show.

Eying the medal, awarded mainly for his scores of trips overseas to entertain troops, Hope remarked:

"There is one sobering thought. I received this for going out of the country. I think they are trying to tell me something."

Hope said his feelings at the moment were "very humble . . . although I feel I have the strength of character to fight it."

Hope left with the medal in his pocket, a sly grin and a parting shot: "Wait until Jack Benny hears about this."

LONDON—A Roman Catholic bishop who refused to comply with a Vatican order to dismiss his housekeeper has resigned, the papal delegation in London announced today.

He is Dr. Francis Walsh, 61-year-old Bishop of Aberdeen.

In April, the Vatican gave him three months in which to dismiss his housekeeper, Mrs. Christine Mackenzie, 42, divorced wife of a Church of Scotland minister.

In Vatican City, Vatican sources said Dr. Walsh's resignation was accepted by Pope Paul and he had been appointed titular Bishop of Birta, a diocese in the Caucasian Mountains.

In a letter to his clergy last April, Dr. Walsh declared the Vatican order was "unjust and cruel."

He rejected as lies or half-truths rumors about his relationship with Mrs. Mackenzie which he said were passed on to Rome.

LONDON—A British airline announced Wednesday the introduction of a self-expanding skirt for high-flying stewardesses.

"The new skirt," said a spokesman for the British Overseas Airways Corporation, "will have an elastic panel with a two-button adjuster on the side."

"That should take care of those bulging tummies in the air . . . Boyle's law, you know, which says the volume and pressure of a gas vary inversely."

Come again, please?

"It's this way," he explained. "As the girls ascend to an altitude of, say 5,000 feet and above, their tummies swell. This makes their skirts too tight and quite naturally they don't like it."

The girls grumbled officially about the bulge. They said their skirts fit beautifully on the ground but not so beautifully in the air.

Registrations
At University
Set Record

By DON KIRKBY

Times
University Correspondent

Seven hundred and fifty freshmen registered at the University of Victoria Tuesday and Wednesday to set an all-time record for the institution operating for the first time as a "university."

New student registrations in the old Victoria College last year totalled 699.

Registration continues all week and lectures begin next Monday.

Upper year students have prepared an extensive orientation program for the new students, to take place next week.

It includes student tournaments, and other social events. A Frosh Queen will be chosen during the week.

The term "Frosh Week" has been changed to "Welcome Frosh Week" in keeping with the new student policy toward initiation of new students.

Sharon Kirk, organizer of the program, said "we don't want to 'squash' Frosh. We want to welcome them to this new feeling we have at becoming a university."

Delegates passed a resolution requesting permissive legislation to allow municipalities to lift the speed limit from the present 40 to 50 miles an hour on highways within their boundaries.

They also approved a resolution—the most controversial so far—asking the government to give municipal councils individual discretion in setting store closing hours.

Another resolution asking that the government set all store hours was defeated.

It was learned that Mayor R. B. Wilson of Victoria likely will be renominated for his position on the UBCM executive when elections are held Friday.

Golden Scarab being built in Quebec for Scarab Fishing Ventures Ltd., of Vancouver, will be completed within 18 months and will engage in tuna fishing off Peru and in the South Atlantic off the African coast.

Although Peru waters lie in the Pacific they are located several hundred miles closer to Halifax than Vancouver.

The new vessel, with a 168-foot length and 36-foot beam, is being built with the aid of the federal shipbuilding subsidy, the Industrial Development Bank and private capital, about 20 per cent of which is believed to be American.

Planer Mill Razed
In Mainland Blaze

VANCOUVER (CP)—Heat was so intense during an hour-long, three-alarm water front fire today that firemen had to chop their hoses and pull two $50,000 pumping trucks to safety.

The blaze leveled a half-empty planer mill and small adjacent buildings at Alberta Lumber Company in the industrialized False Creek area. No estimate of damage was immediately available.

Beautiful City Aim
Of New Chamber Head

Preservation of the natural beauty of the Greater Victoria area through co-ordinated planning by all municipalities is the "No. 1" project urged on the Victoria Chamber of Commerce by its new president.

At the annual meeting in the Empress Hotel Wednesday, Edwin E. Pearlman, who succeeds John Wallace as president, hotly denounced "hodge-podge, piecemeal" development of the area which threatens to frame it in the "same drab, ugly pattern as 1,001 other communities not so richly endowed."

Mr. Pearlman criticized the "crazy-quilt patchwork of disorganized and unco-ordinated planning" which puts attractive homes opposite shacks, allows high rises to "blot the landscape" and "so-called garden apartments to appear, some of which will undoubtedly become the slums of tomorrow."

SINGLE PROJECT

His second project for the chamber's forthcoming year was a suggestion that the area's share of federal centennial funds should be in one project, possibly an addition to the University of Victoria.

Mr. Wallace, before turning over the gavel to Mr. Pearlman, reiterated his stand that amalgamation is a pressing need.

"Victoria is in the middle of re-shaping," he said. "There is a new spirit developing in the city. The chamber should speak loudly and clearly on this and other issues."

He said he believed time would bring about amalgamation, and that the chamber does not want a "shotgun wedding" and would not support any move toward amalgamation which failed to provide for an examination and a vote on a definite set of terms.

MILITARY MEN

Brazil Snuffs Pocket Revolt

BRASILIA (AP)—Loyal Brazilian troops quickly knocked out two centres of a rebellion by non-commissioned military men here today and moved artillery to the vicinity of the air base, where dissidents of the navy and air force refused to surrender.

The loyalists gave the rebels until 4 p.m. to surrender or be crushed. The rebels sent back word they would not surrender.

There were unconfirmed reports that 30 officers and supreme court justice Vitor Nunes Leal were held hostage at the air base.

Gen. Nicolau Fico, commander of the 11th military region centred in Brasilia, said rebels also held out at a marine base.

He said his orders were to crush them.

A government radio broadcast declared "the subversive movement is practically over.

About 200 men were reported involved in the overnight uprising at this modern inland capital, about 600 miles northwest of Rio de Janeiro.

Rebels who had seized the navy ministry building surrendered. The government announced two wounded sergeants were in hospital and the rest were jailed.

A detachment of about 30 which had seized the telephone company gave up after 200 soldiers stormed the building. One rebel was reported killed and two wounded.

President Joa B. Goulart's office said "complete calm reigns in Brasilia and the national territory." All the capital's public services, disrupted in the pre-dawn outbreak, were reported restored.

Fairview, St. John and Prince George because there will be tens of thousands of tourists coming to see the Peace River dam."

'Cheapest Hydro In World'

His two-river policy of building both the Peace and Columbia River power projects "would give the cheapest hydro power in the world and make B.C. not the third, not the second, but the first province in Canada."

At each of his stops two loud speakers set atop the premier's private car would start blaring out the new party campaign song "Roll On, Social Credit, Roll On" before the train wheels stop turning.

"It's a victory tune," he laughed gaily.

It was played over and over during all his stops and periodically the arm-waving premier would urge his well-comers to join in singing the country-style jingles, but with only much success.

B.C. Grievance Biggest in Canada

EXETER — Premier W. A. C. Bennett on Wednesday said his British Columbia and not Quebec has the strongest grievance against confederation. He said he was seeking re-election of this government to obtain a mandate "that will enable us to bargain for a better deal for B.C. at the forthcoming federal-provincial conference."

The premier said Ontario and Quebec were the beneficiaries of confederation while the nation's chief exporting province has to "pay a tribute"

PLAIN TALK

by Davie Fulton

Building Our North!

KAMLOOPS: I will make a major speech in Prince George. Many "political experts" say that will waste my time—they say Peace River country is Bennett country. I disagree.

Mr. Bennett's following there is based upon his so-called "plan" to develop the Peace. That "plan" is weak. It may build hopes and win some votes, but it is not the best way to build our North.

I intend to prove the weakness of Mr. Bennett's present "plan". I will prove that the Conservative program for development is better for the Peace and for the Province.

We will build the Columbia first, the Peace second. The people of the Peace have a clear right to know why this is our policy, and how it will affect them. We would not be honest if we did not discuss our case with them. That kind of dishonesty is what we are fighting.

Peace River development should be cast aside. But neither should it go forward on the half-cooked basis of Mr. Bennett. We cannot throw away the resources of B.C. for the satisfaction of one name, or the political benefit of the party that man dominates.

I will show the realistic basis on which the Peace can go forward—when and how. And I will show northern B.C. that one lone power dam is not the key. To win industry north, we need a comprehensive development plan. The Peace will be part. But the Peace alone is not enough. Anyone who claims otherwise does not know, or does not care about, the facts.

There is a great future in our North. We stand today at its beginning. If we are careful and honest, we will build well. But if passion and politics guide us, our high hopes will be dashed, and our future damaged.

JFK Misinformed Says Mrs. Nhu

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, official first lady of South Viet Nam, arrived here Wednesday night declaring she has no intention of quitting her country and that U.S. President Kennedy should be better informed.

The chic 38-year-old woman heads the Vietnamese parliamentary delegation to the 52nd session of the interparliamentary union here.

She was asked by reporters whether she planned to return to Viet Nam.

Arms Ban Urged

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands (Reuters)—The Socialist International Congress urged member parties here today to exert "maximum influence" on their governments to end all arms supplies to South Africa immediately.

A dispatch from Saigon had quoted a high official source saying a formal U.S. request had been made for removal of her husband, brother of President Diem, from the government and that it would be advisable for the Nhus to leave Viet Nam.

SHALL RETURN?

She said she planned to return home after about a month abroad, and exclaimed: "I shall always return to my country."

Asked to comment on a Kennedy statement in which he expressed the opinion that a change in Viet Nam leadership is needed, she said:

"President Kennedy has been misinformed. He is a politician and when he hears loud opposition he tries to appease it somehow. But in my opinion he is misinformed about the situation in Viet Nam and the solution should be to get better information."

Cut-Rate Gas Sale Denied By Oil Firms in Alberta

CALGARY (CP)—Two major petroleum companies—Shell and Imperial—Wednesday denied a service station operators' charge that they harm their dealers by selling cut-rate gasoline to non-brand outlets.

The Alberta Automotive Retailers Association, meeting Tuesday at Banff, passed a resolution asking the provincial government for a royal commission to investigate the relationship of oil companies with service station operators.

A spokesman for Shell Oil Company said the company's sales personnel know of no instance in the Calgary district where gasoline has been sold at a lower price to a non-brand outlet than to a dealer bearing the Shell name.

He explained that the initial contract with a dealer is a short-term lease, possibly only for 30 days. Once the dealer shows he is capable of operating the service station well, he is given a longer lease.

CAN'T BE BROKEN

Some Shell dealers have contracts for three years which cannot be broken by either side.

The spokesman said that if the dealer is not representing the company to the standards he agreed to when he entered the contract, the oil company feels it should be able to break the contract.

Shell, he added, feels that a royal commission is not necessary, that it would not solve any problems.

The basic situation is that if the dealers operate the business efficiently and give the customers the service they

Pay Yourself a Grant

ATTORNEY-GENERAL BONNER'S promise that the homeowners' grant will be boosted to $150 by 1970 will be recognized by most voters for what it is—a blatant attempt to bribe the voters with their own money. No government in history has figured out a way to disburse funds to its taxpayers which it has not, in one way or another, collected from the taxpaying in the first place.

The story of the origin of the funds which are used to pay the homeowners' grant has been told many times, but perhaps it needs to be told once again to refresh the memories of voters who have suddenly been offered this latest inducement to vote Social Credit.

Prior to 1955, the municipalities received one-third of the provincial sales tax revenues and one-third of the auto licence receipts to pay for schools. But in that year the provincial government changed the arrangement to a per capita grant in lieu of a share of these revenues.

Initially, this seemed like a generous move since on a per capita grant basis, the province's share of school costs went up from 40 to 57 per cent of the total. However, with subsequent changes in the formula, the province whittled down its share of over-all school costs to 48 per cent.

In the meantime, of course, sales tax receipts rose rapidly as the economy grew, from $68.3 million in the fiscal year ended March 31, 1956, to $96.9 million in the year ended last March, while the auto licence revenues rose from about $12 million to $21 million in the same period.

We Haven't Got Forever

IN ASSUMING THE PRESIDENCY of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Edwin Pearlman has laid down two major objectives for Chamber efforts.

He will work to ensure that the city and the three adjacent municipalities unite in a worthwhile joint project for the Confederation centenary rather than four minor ones. And he will lead the Chamber in urging a proper, co-ordinated plan of development for the Greater Victoria community.

Chamber of Commerce executives realize that, desirable as amalgamation is, it will not likely be achieved at an early date. But in the meantime, says Mr. Pearlman, the Greater Victoria area is being developed piecemeal and haphazardly. There is little co-operation between the various councils when it comes to planning. The expanding area lacks integrated provision for new greenbelts and parklands, it

Attack From Across the Border

THE SCURRILOUS AND INFLAMMATORIY remarks directed to the leader of the Canadian labor movement and the Canadian government by the American president of the Seafarers' International Union, Paul Hall, will be deeply resented by all citizens of this country, labor union members and non-members alike.

Mr. Hall charged that Canadian Labor Congress President Claude Jodoin is "gutless" because he supports the government-trusteeship plan for maritime labor groups which resulted from the inquiries of the royal commission headed by Mr. Justice Norris. He claimed that the trusteeship would result in legislation "the likes of which has never been passed by any so-called free country." And he threatened that the SIU would picket every Canadian ship sailing on the Great Lakes.

Mr. Hall ignores the fact that the major share of the blame for the present situation rests squarely on the shoulders of SIU of Canada President Hal Banks, whose hooligan tactics and ruthless determination to dominate the Canadian shipping scene were fully revealed by the Norris Commission. Not that the Canadian shipping industry is entirely blameless, for it was responsible for encouraging Mr. Banks to come to Canada and backed him in cleaning out the Communist-dominated Canadian Seamen's Union which for several years kept the industry in chaos. Mr. Banks was the industry's chosen instruc-ment and it is now obvious they did not choose with care.

Mr. Hall also seems unable to perceive the irony of his stand as the noble defender of trade unionism at the same time that rival union men are being savagely beaten in American Lake ports and a Canadian ship has been dynamited. His denials that members of his union were responsible for any of these incidents, along with his charge that the violence was the work of "agents provocateurs" employed by the shipping companies, will be listened to with considerable skepticism by Canadians.

The crucial question now is whether the United States government can halt the violence which has pursued Canadian ships manned by non-SIU crews in American ports. Canadians get the impression that investigations of these incidents by American police officials have been very casual.

Perhaps the fact that the FBI has been called in as a result of the bombing will help to place the responsibility where it belongs. With the trusteeship legislation expected to be passed at the next session of Parliament—a move which threatens to bring more violence on the American side of the border, judging from Mr. Hall's statements this week—the Canadian government is entitled to expect that the United States government will do everything in its power to protect Canadian ships and Canadian crews engaged in legitimate commercial activities.

For the People

ONE OF THE BEST WAYS TO guarantee survival of city parks and playgrounds, on which some developer may be tempted to cast a covetous eye, is for the people to make use of them.

In Victoria, fortunately, the people do appreciate their parks. They are proud of them, they show them off to visitors and they spend a good deal of their time in active enjoyment of them. This year in fact as the parks chairman, Alderman Millard Mooney, has reported, attendance at special events in Beacon Hill Park broke all records while the summer playground program for children also set a new high for attendance.

Next year, Mr. Mooney says, the program of events is expected to be "bigger and better"—something for Victorians to look forward to.

FROM OTTAWA

Readjusting the Burden of the Plan

THE main point emerging from the first day of the federal-provincial conference on pensions is that the government is now prepared to meet the costs of increased old age security payments out of new taxation. This makes the Canada pension plan more credible by some $116 millions annually than it was before Mr. Pearson's statement on Monday. Until now it has been Liberal policy that the contributory scheme should bear the burden of the $10 increment in universal, flat rate pensions. This has been separation also met the objections of those critics who have argued that the scheme for $10 increments should never have been grafted on to a plan for national contributory pensions.

Now that the government is to find through taxation annual sums which would otherwise have burdened the fund accumulation with and without interest at 4 per cent per annum. It shows a deficit of some $60 millions in 1964 turning into an accumulation which gradually increases to $300 (including interest) in 1974. These figures will obviously be altered if there is no change in contributions and benefits as a result of Monday's announcement.

The choice broad is between amendment of the scheme in the direction of wider benefits or reduced levies or both and the use of the money thus accruing to build up a fund.

Pension Issue

Mr. Wintermeyer, the Ontario Liberal leader, has made an issue of pensions in the present provincial election. He called on Ottawa last week to increase the flat rate pensions immediately and to pay for them out of general revenue. He did not indicate where the higher revenues were to come from. But Mr. Wintermeyer did relate his proposal to the situation in Quebec which has undoubtedly been a matter of concern to Ottawa.

It has been clear for some time that Mr. Lesage, bent on implementing his own pension scheme, will have nothing to do with the federal plan. While his decision has been accepted as irrevocable in Ottawa, Quebec's abstention has been viewed philosophically. As Mr. Pearson indicated on Monday, federal ministers are confident that arrangements can be worked out permitting the movement of persons between one plan and the other without loss of individual rights.

But the $10 increase did present a problem because the flat rate pensions are paid to all Canadians in the appropriate age brackets without regard to provincial residence. With the increase an integral part of the Canada pension plan, to which Quebec will not contribute, persons in the other nine provinces would obviously be in the position of subsidizing Quebec citizens. It was thus necessary to separate the two forms of pension.

Separation also met the objections of those critics who have argued that the scheme for $10 increments should never have been grafted on to a plan for national contributory pensions.

Now that the government is to find through taxation annual sums which would otherwise have burdened the fund accumulation with and without interest at 4 per cent per annum. Sept. 12, 1903 — London: A special meeting of the cabinet has been called following rumors that the government will break up and a general election will be called.

Sept. 12, 1923 — Tokyo: Deaths from the earthquake, fires and tidal waves in and around Tokyo were estimated today to number 150,000.

Sept. 12, 1943 — Vina couver: Maj.-Gen. G. R. Peacock, V.C., general officer commanding-in-chief, Pacific Command, said today possible changes in dimout regulations are now under consideration.

Is independence the theme? If so, imagine two young men, each leaving the family home and going out into the world in self support. One carries with him the affection, tradition, respect and pride-of-ancestry which sustain and enoble him. The other, on taking his departure, in childish petulance turns about to throw stones through the windows of the family home and mud on its walls, and renounces the family name. The attitude of the latter, plus envy and jealousy of tradition, is what I see in the product displayed.

Professional politicians have an eye to votes. They should take note, if they choose to make an issue of this, of the vast number of electors who resent the antics of a noisy minority. It is regrettable that some decent people find themselves in the company of beer parlor parliamentarians, leather jacketed adolescents, Mr. Caouette's splinter group and the terrorist F.L.Q. in this disuniting controversy. Perhaps the better sort of Canadians will consider where we would stand if General Wolfe had been German, or if Hitler had achieved his ambition. The Iron Cross or the Swastika would be our national emblem. Please do not press toleration too far.

And give a thought as to who defeated Hitler's ambition, and under what colors they fought and died. "We will remember them" says the Legion ritual.

Train-Running: My Most Strenuous Crossing of Canada

By HOWARD O'HAGAN

AS YET I have not crossed the continent by air but have done so by train close to 50 times. Nor has the journey lost its fascination for me.

During my first winter at McGill in 1919, I was strangely home-sick, not for any particular place but for the Rockies and the west beyond them. After the pallid supper of tripe and spaghetti at the Presbyterian College where I lived for $40 a month, I developed the habit of going down to the Windsor Station to watch the trains come in.

Breath of the West

The locomotives breathed and hissed just beyond the entrance gate. Perhaps they came from no farther away than Ottawa or Toronto but ponderous, plumed with steam and bearded with ice, they seemed to bring the breath of the far west with them and to be still panting from the effort of their journey. I would return to my room on McTavish street counting the months, even the weeks, to the distant spring when I would be in the observation car behind one of them and on my westward way.

In those days the observation car at the end of the train had an open platform enclosed with brass rails. Space was scant and it was often difficult to find a place to put down one of the folding chairs stacked just inside the doorway. This was especially so going through the Rockies which as a rule a good number of the passengers were passing through for the first time.

On one such journey I was travelling out to the coast with a medical student. Soon after lunch both of us had secured seats on the open platform. The train was approaching the Great Divide west of Banff and people were crowded in the doorway behind us, each awaiting his chance for a chair.

The medical student beside me, ignoring the mountains, was reading a detective story. Some one from behind leaned over his shoulder and asked gruffly why he should prefer the reading to the view. The man who spoke, a portly fellow, was standing in the doorway and in his question was a strong hint that if the book-reader had no interest in the country through which he was passing, then he should surrender his seat to one who had.

Seen Before

The medical student — today he stands on a high rung in his profession — lifted his head and replied, "Oh, I've seen the Rockies before." The words in their blind assurance have endured with me because to my mind no one has yet seen the Rockies, though, like the student, he may have often travelled through them. He sees a small section of them and with each hour, the aspect of that section varies due to sun, wind and clouds. A man cannot encompass the Rockies in a glance though he may hold them in their wholeness in his imagination. It is the vision waiting for him just beyond the next pass that he never sees because beyond that pass there is always another pass.

On a later journey long after I had left McGill I came west in the fall with a lean Englishman of about thirty, this time on the Canadian National. We met in the diner somewhere west of Cochrane, Ontario. He had a job in the House of Lords he told me and if one day I were in London and had forgotten his name, I had only to ask one of the attendants in the House for the room "hunting with big game heads." Now he was on his way to inspect a mining property in the foothills west of Edson, Alberta.

He mentioned that the year before with a companion he had crossed Russia on the Trans-Siberian Railroad. The trip was long and tiresome. To amuse themselves at each daylight stop they would leave the train and walk back along the track. The first one to call for the race back to the train before it pulled out of the station would be the loser in this test of wills. Indeed more than once they overtook the train when it was already moving. The Trans-Siberian was not notable for its speed and I suspect that the two Englishmen were out to show the Russians that they could outdo that famous train.

On the Run

When the one across the table from me in the diner suggested that we give this game, evolved in the tedium of Siberian forests, a trial in Canada, I agreed. This was in the 30s, before the age of the diesel-oil locomotive and stops along the transcontinental route were frequent. We raced each other across what was left of Ontario and parts of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. It was my most strenuous crossing of Canada. The honors remained in English hands.

A rail journey sometimes has its pathos. In the late December, 1924, I escorted a small group of Chinese across the country. They were going from the West Indies to their homeland. Our train stopped early one morning at Jasper, Alberta. An hour or two earlier the frame-station had burned to the ground, its ruins still smouldering before us. The news agent, a French-Canadian, who boarded our train had been asleep in it. He barely escaped with his life and lost his entire supply of magazines and knicknacks. This was bad enough but worse was to come.

Snowbound

East of Blue River, we became snowbound. For three days we were held fast. After the first 24 hours the lights went out and we were in candlelight. The railroad, as was its obligation, provided us with free meals in the diner and my Chinese with their first experience with knives and forks. Sitting across from me was the news agent bewailing his lot. He had missed the opportunity of a lifetime, he explained to me. With the train snowbound he would have sold his entire stock had not the flames in Jasper consumed it.

He was close to tears and I could see that this had been a long-time aim, to finish a run with nothing on hand, much as a golfer hopes for a hole-in-one. I realized then that even news agents have their dreams and too often, like the rest of us, see them go up in smoke.

As Our Readers See It

Schools on 'Shifts'

With all the hue and cry for increased facilities for higher education, we seem to have forgotten the many hundreds of Greater Victoria youngsters who are receiving a second class education through the implementation of the "shift" system in our elementary schools.

Even with the completion of new classrooms, the situation will remain critical. If we can expect the continued defeat of school bylaws until another state of emergency exists, many of our children can expect nothing better than a second class education through the "shift" system.

It is difficult to understand why we cannot provide sufficient classrooms for our youngsters, yet we would dig deep into our pockets if we heard that the same situation existed in some underdeveloped country half way around the world.

Surely it is time that we faced the fact that we are growing rapidly, and that new houses, apartments and "garden villas" must mean new schools.

Perhaps it is time that our provincial government stepped into the school financing picture. Certainly, we have ample evidence that the present system of financing school construction is not satisfactory.

51% Majority Proposed By UBCM on Money Bylaws

DAWSON CREEK (CP) — British Columbia municipalities have again asked that only a simple majority be required to pass money bylaws instead of the 60 per cent required at present.

The annual convention of the Union of B.C. Municipalities Wednesday passed for the fourth time in four years a resolution asking this.

The resolution, submitted by the Vancouver-area municipality of Richmond, said defeat of bylaws which would enable construction of essential public works is working a hardship on municipalities.

It said the works must eventually be provided for a greatly increased cost and added there does not appear to be any justification for retaining the 60 per cent majority provision.

SPECIAL CLASS

Defeated was a motion that would exempt from municipal taxation home owners who have no income other than the old age pension. The resolutions committee, in recommending defeat, said it would create a special class of property owner. D. H. Nelson of Esquimalt, said all age pensioners are already taken care of by this home-owners grant.

Other approved resolutions:

A Municipal Act amendment which would make any cemetery owned and operated by a company for gain or profit pay municipal taxes and permission to authorize capital projects for the ensuing year on or before Nov. 30 of the preceding year instead of at the time of the annual budget.

Trade licensing of credit unions and trust companies. This was submitted by Prince George and endorsed by the North Central B.C. Municipal Association.

Retention of fines, penalties and forfeitures levied in courts administered by municipalities. These fines now go to the government.

Government action on municipal requests for planning and zoning legislation "so that local government in B.C. may have the tools necessary to

BOMB SCARE CLOSES HIGH SCHOOL

NANAIMO (CP) — Police today ordered Nanaimo Senior High School closed for the day while they searched thoroughly for a bomb.

Principal Jack Litch reported he was telephoned at home at 3:30 a.m. and told:

"A bomb has been placed in the school, we must go off during school hours."

RCMP have taken over the case.

Subs Reviving Sea Power

Rear-Admiral W. M. Landry, more, flag officer, Pacific coast, predicted Wednesday that United States nuclear armed submarines may bring the world a "pax Britannica" of the 19th century.

Speaking at the annual meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce in the Empress Hotel, Admiral Landry more said the Polaris subs have returned the attention of the world to sea power after many years when progress in the air held the spotlight.

"Sea power is our key to peace in the future," he said.

He explained the Canadian navy's 40 operational ships are deployed to mesh in with those of other navies in the NATO group. "If the supreme allied commander, Atlantic, were here today, I think he would say our present ships are useful and valuable and that we should continue to update them," the admiral said.

WISE CHOICE

He said Canadian naval authorities were wise to stay with a predominantly surface fleet under present circumstances, and supported the plan to build general purpose frigates.

A great need at the present time is for vessels to provide underway replenishment for ships at sea. When operating away from their home bases, ships can expand as much as 25 per cent of their time returning to base for refuelling — in terms of Canada's 40 ships, a reduction in the active fleet by 10 ships.

BROWN JAILED

Driver Must Repay $22,000

VANCOUVER (CP) — Loomis car company driver Douglas Brown, sentenced to three years Wednesday for a king-sized theft, was also ordered to compensate the company for $22,000 of his loot that is still missing.

Magistrate Gordon Scott passed sentence 48 hours after Brown pleaded guilty to a charge of theft over $50. Brown admitted taking more than $500,000 in cash and cheques on the Victoria Day weekend and fleeing to Brazil.

Most of the money has been found.

Lawyers said that if Brown did not or could not repay the missing money, liens could be obtained against his earnings after his release from prison.

Magistrate Scott said Brown had been employed by Loomis for nine years, rising to the post of custodian.

"This is a very responsible position and one involving the highest degree of trust by his employer," the magistrate said.

Brown admitted carrying out the theft on his own, but two other men are awaiting hearing in connection with the case.

Said Magistrate Scott:

"It is urged the temptation should mitigate his punishment. If that is so, the greater degree of trust, the less the punishment."

Magistrate Scott said it had been pointed out that Brown realized only about $300 from the theft and that the full amount had been recovered with the exception of about $20,000 of which Brown had no knowledge.

"I do not see how Brown can claim credit for this," Magistrate Scott said.

"He fully expected to see his share of the spoils."

The magistrate said he had also been told Brown's wife and family is abandoning him and that this was punishment enough.

"I cannot help wondering how his family would have fared if his plans had been successful," he said.

"Did he expect them to follow him as a fugitive from justice or did he plan to abandon them?"

Orthodox Doukhobors 'No Problem'

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — J. P. Stoochnoff, a Doukhobor representative visiting Saint John this week, says there is no Doukhobor problem in Canada. There is only a "Sons of Freedom" problem.

Mr. Stoochnoff, a British Columbia man now living in Calgary and currently arranging speaking engagements across Canada, says about the only thing the radical Sons, who number about 1,300, have in common with the 30,000 Doukhobors is a common ethnic origin.

He said Doukhobors, who have religious beliefs similar to Quakers, have identified themselves completely as Canadian citizens, with a high ratio taking college education, inter-marrying with other Canadians and generally being assimilated into the Canadian way of life.

He blamed the Sons of Freedom difficulties on the radical teachings of a fanatical leader who came to Canada a few years ago.

ARTHUR LAING
... dismisses rumors

Ottawa Determined To Assist Eskimos

OTTAWA (CP) — Northern Affairs Minister Arthur Laing, returning from a three-week 7,000-mile tour of the Arctic regions, said Wednesday night he is disappointed with the progress of education among Eskimos in northern Quebec.

In an airport interview, he said however that the Eskimo people have learned that education is important to their advancement and are concerned about the future of northern education for the native children.

Mr. Laing dismissed as unfounded assertions, rumors, and conflicting denials that have gained currency among the Eskimos, that the federal government will turn over education responsibilities to the Province of Quebec.

CLOSED-CIRCUIT FIRM SENDS IN SUBSTITUTE

Substitution: One new Eidophor projector for one wonky Eidophor.

The "new boy" will be on hand Monday for the closed-circuit television showing at the Royal Theatre of the Montreal-B.C. Lions interlocking football game at Vancouver.

Tests run this week on the old projector brought displeasure to company officials. They promptly announced it would be replaced by a new model due here Friday.

Engineers believe a violent electrical storm Aug. 12 left hidden scars on the projector, causing a 17-minute blackout of the Lions-Stampeder game last Saturday.

Hal Malone
LOOKS AT SPORTS

For a man who has spent 80 days at the race track this year, Mervin Peters looked relatively unscathed. Not many people with similar attendance records can say the same thing, particularly where they carry the wallets.

Mr. Peters, in fact, is one party who makes money at the races. He has been doing it for two years and will continue as long as it is considered non-sporting for stewards to be seen purchasing mutual tickets.

When he took the job as head man for B.C. Jockey Club last year, (as the youngest of his profession in North America) there was some rumbling that he was too wet behind the experience. For some inexplicable reason presiding stewards through the years were long in the tooth and not little crusty.

The late W. J. "Doc" McKeon had age, a tart tongue and a degree in veterinary medicine. His successor, Earle Lewis, labored for three decades before getting the job. Both men could pare the paint off a battleship when aroused and ran the game with a hard hand.

Peters missed the stages of apprenticeship taken by his predecessors. He stepped from newspaper handicapper into an associate steward's seat briefly and then into the captain's chair.

He hasn't missed much since. There have been no flagrant examples of sin or 99-to-1 shots winning by five lengths at Sandown or Exhibition Park under his regime. At Exhibition Park attendance is up 14 per cent, wagering 20 per cent.

Steward's Immunity Can Be Blessing

Owners, trainers, jockeys and grooms have learned that while Peters speaks softly he means what he says. Only this week he slapped a $25 fine on Bill Lochead, national president of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association.

Mr. Lochead, it seems, entered a horse he had no particular desire to race for the sole purpose of picking up a star. The more stars a horse has the better chance of getting to run under conditions where there are more horses than places available.

Apart from all his other chores, Peters has the formidable task of keeping track of Harry Fillion, B.C. Jockey Club's genial publicist. This is not too trying since Mr. Fillion is built like the left side of the B.C. Lions' offensive line, but it can be dangerous.

One day last week Fillion, looking distraught, approached Peters and said: "Merv, I just swallowed an olive pit."

Peters pondered and replied, "Never mind, Harry. On you it doesn't show."

For a few seconds it was 8-5 that they would be scraping Peters off the wallpaper. Fillion just leered. You don't get anything for a leer but you can set down for the balance of the meeting for striking a steward.

They were here this week to discuss the forthcoming pony gallop at Sandown. In just nine days the Sidney emporium will be open to welcome tourists with fond hopes, fat purses and weak heads.

Punters Showed Plenty of Fortitude

"Should be a bumper year," Mr. Peters was saying. "With the horses we'll have we could hit a million and a half."

If his expectations materialize, it would mean that the bettors would have to engage in stiff combat with the mutuel machines from flagfall from finish.

Last year the punters, showing considerable fortitude, pumped the handle to record $1,274,112.

There was the usual claim of "more and better horses" which has been made annually since 1798. With new housing Sandown will hold 300. Last year there were 222, horses and men and tails.

"We used to have platters and $1,600 horses and not much else," Peters said. "This year we have three handicap divisions. In the first there's horses like Blue Hawk, Golden Briar, Sternson. Just a step behind there's Ky Look, Chickamen, Poco Bayo Rey, Assyrian Prince. And you saw what he did in his last start. Won by 14 lengths. He was running with Saucy Gal—she can cut it pretty good—and then whooosh! In the $2,000-$2,500 class there's Bay Toe, Tallyho, Alice Kaput."

"Then there's the three-year-olds. Never had a better crop. Only Ky Miracle won't be coming."

"But listen to this—Fees—he won the Derby; Princess Vega, Foxy Alex, Dynamite Bob, Devil Dipper. That's just a few. Should be some photo-finishes among that crowd."

It's All In the Way You Hold the Club

The talk drifted to football and golf. Mr. Fillion, a tee artist of note, shifted his hooves and admitted he was dying to tell a golf story.

It seemed like a good idea, so . . .

"This fellow, a real fanatic about the game," said Mr. Fillion, "was having a fine day. Drive after drive soared out long and true. Then he lashed into one and the ball sliced right, out of bounds, across the street. Hit a guy right on the head. He goes down like a stone. Out cold? No, sir, he's dead."

"Well it happens that a motorcycle policeman is going by and he sees the whole thing. Stops his bike, peels off his gloves and approaches the golfer."

"Migawd, what have I done!" the golfer cries, white and trembling.

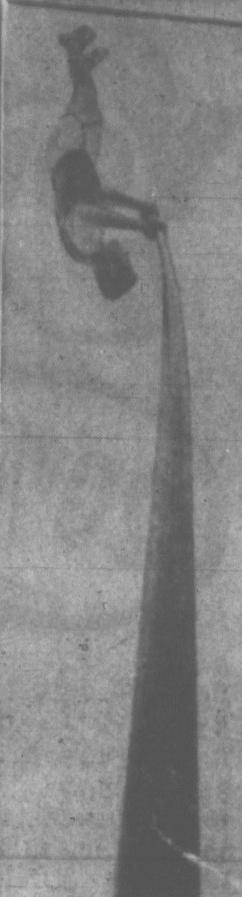

The policeman looks over his shoulder at the fallen victim, takes the wood from the golfer and says, "Well, it's only my opinion, but if I were you I'd hold my right hand just a little . . ."

MAGIC NUMBER FOUR . . .

BUT ARE NEW YORKERS EXCITED? Cronin, for One, Forever Hopeful

By JIM BECKER

NEW YORK (AP)—After a wait of nearly 12 months, New York Yankees are about to clinch the American League pennant. You can almost feel the excitement in the air.

Fans who have waited patiently since last October for a pennant are starting to stir. There are plans to celebrate the momentous event.

To sample some of this fervor of excitement, an AP reporter interviewed a number of people standing in the long line waiting to get into the Radio City Music Hall.

"The magic number is four," the reporter said to a lady with sore feet from New Jersey.

"What do you think of that?"

"If they think I'm going to wait four hours to see Doris Day they're crazy," she said.

"Charleton Heston, maybe, but Doris Day, never."

The reporter spotted a neatly-dressed father in line, holding a baby in his arms and another by the hand.

"The Yankees are about to clinch the American League pennant," the reporter said. "Are you excited about it?"

"What'd you say? Here, hold the baby," he said to the reporter. "We'll be inside pretty soon and then you can go," he said to the little girl.

"The Yankees are going to win the pennant any day," the reporter repeated.

"You mean they don't always win?" the man asked.

"No, not always," the reporter said, drying off his notes and handing back the baby.

"They have to play 162 games and the other nine teams in the league have a chance."

"Says who?" asked the man.

"Well, Joe Cronin for one," the reporter said. "He's the president of the American League."

"Does he believe in Santa Claus?" asked the little girl.

Cardinals Use L.A. Weapon To Stay Close

Times News Services

St. Louis Cardinals are using the Los Angeles Dodgers' own most potent weapon—pitching—to cling to the front-runners' coattails in the National League pennant race.

Pitching has been the Cardinals' most serious problem all season but it's suddenly jelled—and just at the right time if the Redbirds are going to overtake the Dodgers, whose once-proud staff is beginning to get the blind staggerers in the stretch.

The Cardinal staff turned in its third consecutive shutout in a row when Ray Sadecki and Ron Taylor combined in a five-hitter Wednesday night for a 4-0 victory over Chicago Cubs. The win enabled the Cardinals to remain three games behind the winning Dodgers and made it 14 victories in their last 15 games for Johnny Keane's fast-closing team.

The Dodgers again got shaky pitching from ace Don Drysdale but reached into their bullpen for the necessary relief aid as they downed Pittsburgh Pirates, 9-4, and eliminated them from the race.

ONLY SANDY RELIABLE Sandy Koufax is the only Dodger pitcher who has gone the distance in the 11 games played by Los Angeles this month. During the same period the Cardinals have had six complete games from among three different pitchers.

New York Mets pushed the fading San Francisco Giants another step toward extinction, 4-2, Cincinnati Reds routed Milwaukee Braves, 14-3, and Houston Colts nicked Philadelphia Phillies, 4-2 in other games.

New York Yankees are all wrapped up in a pennant race—the other pennant race. There's the loot involved, lots of it.

The Yankees, who always count the winning World Series share in their annual income estimates filed in April, are openly favoring Los Angeles Dodgers for the National League flag in the battle with St. Louis Cardinals.

SIMPLE ARITHMETIC

They figure a World Series with the Dodgers will be worth some $6,000 a man more than one with the Cardinals. The arithmetic is simple. There are some 35,000 seats in Walter O'Malley's house in Los Angeles and all within naked eye distance of home plate are called boxes, at $12 a copy. St. Louis has only 30,000 seats, few in the $12 class.

Meanwhile, the Yankees moved a step closer to their own annual American League pennant-clinching party by whipping Kansas City Athletics 8-2. The second-place Minnesota Twins also won, 9-3 over Cleveland Indians.

That left the magic number at three.

In other AL action, Chicago White Sox edged Baltimore Orioles 3-2, Washington Senators trimmed Detroit Tigers 6-5 in 10 innings and Aubrey Gatewood pitched a four-hitter in his major league debut as Los Angeles Angels defeated Boston Red Sox 4-1.

Rocks Out-Legged Again By Speedy Green Gaels

By GEORGE CAMPBELL

Special to The Times

OSHAWA—Tom Druce, coach of Victoria Shamrocks, was in a philosophical frame of mind following Wednesday night's 11-4 drubbing his team took in the second game of the Canadian junior lacrosse championship series.

Coach of the Western Canada representatives in this annual classic Druce had an attitude that was a mixture of complacency and reluctance. He made no attempt to deny Oshawa's right to their two-straight victories in the Minto Cup series but, at the same time, he was not reaching for the panic button, either.

"I was afraid on Monday night that this Oshawa club was better than we had expected. Now I'm not so sure of it," he admitted. "But we've been down two games before and have come back."

Druce did concede that his team, in spite of a solid rest, were again out-run on the Whiteman floor.

Nestman Warms Up

Even the Dillon brothers had to go all out to match the sustained speed of the Green Gaels, who grabbed a 3-0 opening lead and left the floor after the first quarter, with a 4-1 lead. They added to their margin in every period.

Norm Nestman got his chance in the nets for the Shamrocks and while he was guilty of a shaky start, he recovered to turn in a splendid game.

Temperers were just a little more evident in this one, a few penalties for "chippy" offenses being meted out—mostly to the visitors. In this regard, Druce had one comment: "I felt the officials were not consistent—I don't mean that they favored the Gaels but they gave penalties for certain types of checking but ignored the same offenses at other times," he added.

Observers Approve

Actually, although Shamrocks did draw the majority of the penalties, the total was far below the usual number seen in eastern playoffs. Veteran observers continue to voice their approval of the hard but clean checking tactics employed by both teams. Increased tension could possibly lead to a display of raw temper before the championship is decided, but up to this point, the 1963 Minto Cup series has been a hard and fast tussle between two teams of honest and clean competitors.

In Oshawa's corner, Jim Bishop was an enthusiastic coach.

"We ran the rumps off them," he said bluntly.

Coupled with their 10-7 win in Monday's opener, the underdog Gaels now enjoy a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven series. The third game is here Friday night and the fourth Monday.

Shadows on Munroe

In addition to running, the Gaels received a standout performance from Merv Marshall, their spectacular 16-year-old rookie goaltender. Marshall, one of nine rookies on the team, made 34 stops compared to 28 by Nestman.

One of the key moves in the win was the shadowing of Victoria captain Bill Munroe who scored four times Monday. McAvale, a pickup from Brampton who was one of Oshawa's best, Conlin and Jim Hinkson also took turns covering Munroe. He was held to one assist.

John Davis, a brother of National's Terry Davis, scored three times for the winners, and Stew Wielker, Tom Conlin and John McAuley notched two apiece. Other marksmen were Don Stinson and Larry Ireland.

Brothers Ranjit and Nirmal Dillon, hard workers for the losers, recorded a goal each. Others went to Rod Kilduff and Ray Beech.

"They were supposed to be tired Monday night but they've had two days' rest," said Bishop. "But we ran them into the floor. They're going to have to start giving this team (Oshawa) some credit."

The teams will clash Friday night in Peterborough, the Leafs' training camp; Saturday night in St. Catharines, where the Hawks work out; and Sunday afternoon in Kitchener.

BLUES START SUNDAY

Boston Bruins, who finished in the cellar last season, were to begin training today in Boston. But New York Rangers, who came in fifth, didn't open camp until Sunday in Winnipeg.

Montreal Canadiens, third-place finishers last year, opened training at home Wednesday, while fourth-place Detroit Red Wings began last Saturday in Detroit.

Toronto's two Swedish national players—goaltender Kjell Svensson and left winger Carl Oberg—will see action against the rugged Hawks in the Sunday contest.

In other AL action, Chicago White Sox edged Baltimore Orioles 3-2, Washington Senators trimmed Detroit Tigers 6-5 in 10 innings and Aubrey Gatewood pitched a four-hitter in his major league debut as Los Angeles Angels defeated Boston Red Sox 4-1.

Vancouver Wins Pier Six Brawl

VANCOUVER—The battle for the western Canada senior lacrosse championship is warming up.

Vancouver and New Westminster, after four relatively tame games which left the top-of-seven series all tied up, stepped out on Pier 6 Wednesday night and had themselves brawling good time.

Druce did concede that his team, in spite of a solid rest, were again out-run on the Whiteman floor.

The win gives Vancouver a 3-2 edge in the series, which resumes in New Westminster Friday night.

New Westminster won in the penalty box, however—41 minutes to Vancouver's 33.

The Victoria Horticultural Society will combine beauty with music at its annual fall-show at the Victoria Curling Rink Friday and Saturday.

It will have Miss PNE—Linda Douma of Sidney—playing the organ during the two-day show.

It will also have an exhibition of gorgeous beauties from two species of the plant world.

As an added attraction, the society has arranged a flower arrangement demonstration by Mrs. George A. Wiggin, 1840 Ferndale Road, who is regarded as tops in B.C. in this form of art.

One of the eye-catching flowers to be on display will be the dahlia, which is growing in popularity as a garden flower. This plant, first discovered in Mexico in 1789, was once used as cattle fodder because of its high protein value.

The other showy bloom will be the chrysanthemum—the pride of many garden specialists in Greater Victoria.

Society officials said they are throwing in a collection of outdoor carnations which is sure to surprise many people who think there are only one or two varieties of carnations.

For the more practical gardener, the show will feature some fruits and vegetables.

Pigs, peaches and apples will be the main entries in the fruit section.

Get Proper Notebook
Then Keep It CleanBy The Reading Laboratory
(Ninth in a Series)

Before we start talking about the best ways to handle textbooks and tests, there's just one more item we have to cover—the materials you need for effective study.

The notebook is the most important piece of equipment you need as a student. This might sound a little elementary, but too many students get into course difficulty because they don't keep the right kind of notebooks, or don't keep them in the right way—or don't keep notebooks at all.

Get yourself a notebook for each course, preferably the kind with the coiled wire binding; they lie flat for easy reading and writing and the pages are easily removable.

Above all, keep the notebook clean. When you take notes in class, take them quickly but take them as neatly as possible—unless you plan to copy them. There's no more pitiable sight than the student who has taken ultra-complete class notes only to find that when it comes time to study he can't read them.

Don't Forget Your Doodle Book

If you're a doodler (and who isn't?), get into the habit of carrying a doodle book with you. Just get an extra notebook, bring it to class, and if the work that day is such that you don't have to take notes, then doodle in your doodle book. Again, this might sound elementary, but there's nothing more unpleasant than studying from a scribbled-up notebook. Whenever you're seized with an uncontrollable urge to doodle, have your doodle book handy; it'll save a lot of notebooks.

After you buy a doodle book, save up some more and invest in a vocabulary notebook. Whenever you run across a new word, write it down. Then once a week you can look up all of the week's new words in the dictionary. And after you look them up, use them. You'll impress all of your friends—and teachers—if you keep a good vocabulary notebook.

Remember a few chapters back when we talked about all of the outside reading that you're going to do? Sure you do. You're reading a nonrequired book and one of the better magazines for at least 15 minutes a day. Right? Well, if you're really enterprising you might also get a notebook for all of the new ideas you're getting from that outside reading.

Flash Cards Won't Hurt

Finally, if you're in a spending mood, a set of 3x5 flash cards can be a great help for learning foreign language vocabulary. Write down the new word on one side of the card, its English equivalent on the other.

We'll talk more about note-taking later. For now, just remember that a textbook has a lot of pages. If you can start to keep most of what you have to know in notebooks, you can save a lot of reading at the end of each term.

(NEXT: The first thing to do with a textbook.)

Open Split Threatens Canada, U.S. Labor

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP) — The possibility of an open split between the central labor bodies of Canada and the United States was raised by a department of the AFL-CIO Wednesday in a resolution bitterly condemning activities of a Canadian rail union in the Great Lakes shipping battle.

Ending an executive board meeting, the AFL-CIO maritime trades department accused the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers (CLC) of spearheading the attempt to "destroy" the Canadian Seafarers' International Union headed by Harold C. Banks.

The department also contended that the brotherhood was trying to abolish international unionism and was supporting an attempt to "raid" AFL-CIO unions in Canada. Saying it repudiated and condemns the entire activities of the Canadian brotherhood, the department's executive board, representing 29 unions, called on AFL-CIO president George Meany to place the question of the future of Canada-U.S. trade union relations before the next AFL-CIO general board meeting, likely to take place at New York in November. The board is made up of the presidents or principal officers of all unions affiliated with the central labor body.

A maritime trades department spokesman said this consideration could involve a decision as to whether the AFL-CIO should end co-operation with the 1,000,000-member Canadian Labor Congress and support a separate Canadian body representing international unions. Such unions now make up about 75 per cent of the CLC membership.

CBRT OFFICIAL
SUITS SIU
FOR LIBEL

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mr. Justice J. G. A. Hutcheson reserved decision Wednesday in a libel suit action brought by William Brannigan, a founder and former financial secretary of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers Union (CLC) against the Seafarers' International Union (AFL-CIO).

Brannigan is asking substantial punitive damages in his suit against SIU, which he claims branded him a communist in its newspaper, Canadian Sailor, in 1961.

He said he was falsely identified in the newspaper as one of two men carrying a communist banner in a May Day parade here.

'Private'
Solution
Favored

OTTAWA (CP) — U.S. Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz flew back to Washington Wednesday to urge responsible American labor leaders to launch a "private" clean-up of waterfront labor lawlessness on the Great Lakes.

Mr. Wirtz told reporters after meetings with Prime Minister Pearson and Labor Minister MacEachen that he hopes that the trade union movement in Canada and the United States will find a solution to the problem of gangsterism and violence on the Great Lakes.

He made it clear that he prefers a private remedy by labor itself, rather than the public cure proposed by the Canadian government—an unprecedented trusteeship by the government over five marine unions, including the Seafarers' International Union of Canada Ind.

"Whatever can be done privately is much better done privately than if it has to be done publicly," he said.

Washer Reg. 369.95, 299⁹⁵

On CDP, $15 monthly

This is a "big capacity" dryer that automatically adjusts drying time and temperature to the particular requirements of any fabric load while it is drying. Delicate, regular or heavy control gives perfect drying results, and you can damp-dry clothes for immediate ironing. It even has a DE-WRINKLE position to remove wrinkles from synthetics! And a FLUFF CYCLE for pillows, bedspreads, etc.

Extra large capacity means you save one load in every five! You simply adjust the speed to the kind of wash you're doing—normal for regular washes, slow for delicate fabrics. Two cycle lengths too—regular and short, so filmy-fine or dirty work clothes can all be safely washed in the machine. Choose hot, warm or cold-rinse temperatures.

ON APPOINTMENT

Judge Refutes Charge By Socreds

A B.C. Supreme Court Judge said Wednesday he was not a partner of Conservative leader David Fulton when he got his job on the bench.

Mr. Justice David Verchere said he had "no comment" to make on a charge by Premier Bennett that Mr. Fulton, when federal justice minister, had appointed a partner of his own law firm to the Supreme Court.

Mr. Bennett refused to identify the man in question and Mr. Justice Verchere said he had "no idea" who he meant.

However, he is the only B.C. judge who was at one time a partner in the Kamloops law firm of Fulton, Verchere and Rodgers.

Mr. Justice Verchere said that he was appointed in July 1959 and at that time Mr. Fulton was not a member of the firm.

"He had left the firm and withdrawn from the partnership some years previously," the judge said.

Mr. Fulton quit when he became a cabinet minister.

Mr. Fulton himself also declined comment on the Bennett charge.

An aide said he would not become involved in such accusations.

The Bennett-Fulton feud, which simmered over the six years of Tory rule in Ottawa, has boiled over in the provincial election campaign. The Socreds are charging Mr. Fulton with running "a hate campaign."

"We shall have something quite different to say in Prince George tonight," said Mr. Fulton's aide.

UBCM Rejects Move to Curb Candidates

DAWSON CREEK (CP) — The annual convention of the union of British Columbia municipalities Wednesday defeated a motion that would have asked the provincial government to amend the municipal act to restrict candidates for municipal office to Canadian citizens.

The convention's resolutions committee recommended rejection of the motion on the grounds that the act now says candidates must be British subjects, a term which has wider connotation than Canadian citizens.

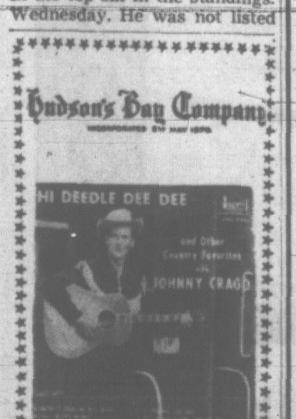

A Port Moody delegate, in moving the motion, said a lot of persons come to Canada to make money, run for municipal office or live on social welfare. He said at present a Zulu or an Aborigine who has not advanced in 1,000,000 years could run for office.

Several delegates said that the motion would deprive many persons of the right to run for office. Don Lansdale of West Vancouver called the resolution a "disgrace."

B.C. Yachtsman Finishes In Ruck

CHICAGO (AP) — Dick Stearns of Chicago, defending International Star class world's titleholder, won a 48-second decision Wednesday over Blair Fletcher of Collingwood, U.J., to win the third race in the Star class series.

Vancouver's Dave Miller failed to finish in the top 15 in the top six in the standings. Wednesday. He was not listed.

Chant Charges

Certain interests in Eastern Canada are "strongly and definitely opposed to the industrial growth and expansion of British Columbia," B.C. Public Works Minister W. N. Chant said here Wednesday night.

They are afraid of our tremendous potential," the minister told a Social Credit meeting in the Lake Hill Women's Institute Hall, attended by 35 people.

Mr. Chant would not amplify his reference to "certain interests" in eastern Canada, but said "they" were responsible for much propaganda aimed at British Columbia.

"Repeatedly," he said, "our critics in this province have been false prophets. And when they fall by the wayside, they often end up as Conservative pets in eastern Canada."

RINGING TRIBUTE

In a ringing tribute to Premier Bennett, Mr. Chant said:

There isn't a man in public life in Canada today who can hold a candle to him, and I speak from many years experience of public men.

When the history of B.C. is written, Premier Bennett will stand out as a giant above his times—a great visionary and statesman, years ahead of his opponents.

Mr. Chant said the Peace and Columbia rivers will between them produce 8,000,000 or 9,000,000 horsepower, and all of this power would be needed in a few years.

There were scoffers when the United States built its Grand Coulee Dam. They are forgotten today, as our scoffers will be tomorrow."

Mr. Chant said in a few years' time it will be possible to transmit electrical power more than 1,000 miles with hardly any loss of energy. (The Peace River dam at Hudson Hope is about 600 miles from Vancouver.)

TWO MEMBERS?

Mr. Chant spoke in support of Saanich Socred candidate John Tisdale and predicted that, with the rapid growth of Saanich, the riding might need two members before long.

Sidney Smith, a past president of Victoria Liberal Association, gave his reasons for switching over to Social Credit.

The Liberal Party in B.C. had failed to develop a constructive policy. They were an obstruction to the Legislature . . . Then Foster Isherwood brought them back and sought nomination in the Victoria riding.

"When the Liberals failed to nominate him, I knew it was time for me to leave the party. Many Liberals have joined Social Credit because of this—and there will be more."

AGAINST POLICY

Mr. Smith said B.C. Liberals "had never come up with anything constructive" and practised "defeatism" in the legislature.

"Everything Mr. Bennett has done has been above reproach," he declared amid applause. "He doesn't believe in making promises, but the promises he does make are always fulfilled."

Mr. Smith said Premier Bennett is looking 10 years ahead to the time when today's children will be adults.

Arthur Mayse

Several years ago, we offered our daughter a choice.

Did she wish to return to junior high school in September, or would she like to attend a school for girls?

We dropped the question casually, but with misgivings. Win and I had come to regard the junior high school as one of modern education's less successful ventures. Still, we shared an apprehension that by making the change we might be jumping from frying pan to fire.

So we were as much relieved as disappointed when Sue declined private school with haste and vigor.

She would lose all her friends. We were trying to turn her into a snob. She didn't want to wear an icky uniform and black laced shoes. Parents don't send a girl to private school unless she's stupid, or has done something bad.

The matter rested there, while summer vacation ambled its course. Then, with school a matter of days away, Susan reopened the subject herself.

"I've been thinking," she said at dinner. "I still hate those shoes. But I guess I could stand private school for a year."

Next day the school of our choice decided it could also stand our darling, but only after the principal had done some very thorough sifting.

"We are not operating an institution for delinquents," she told us with blunt candour.

Nor was she. Susan—a day girl complete with snubbed black oxfords—was plunged abruptly into a paradoxical seeming world where freedom and spartan discipline were intertwined.

Foy a boarding student caught smoking an illicit cigarette, expulsion was swift. Free-wheeling classroom discussions were encouraged by the same teachers who required pupils to open doors for them and stand respectfully aside when they passed.

On crosswalks and in playground, big girls shared the responsibility of keeping little ones from harm. The justice meted out to the petty miscreants by the grade 12 prefects was summary and firm.

We had become accustomed to public school report cards which sacrificed clarity in an apparent attempt to spare parental feelings. Susan's first private school report not only revealed exactly where she ranked in her class, but how her percentages compared with the group average for each subject.

For the first time, we found ourselves given a reliable barometer with which to measure progress.

The transition had its painful moments. For a week or two, our daughter loathed St. Trinian's. Then, overnight, came a change of heart.

Susan still goes to that school, which she loves with an unwavering devotion. The black shoes have been replaced by others with toes a fraction less round, as befits a grade II girl.

But she wears the same blazer, beret and pleated skirt with which she started, and probably will when she makes grade 12. This she must do by writing examinations. Her school does not pass its students on recommendation.

The persistent notion that one boy's high marks mean a private school admission is unadulterated moonshine. Term tests are stiff and frequent; these kids work as hard as they play.

The St. Trinian's girl can have fun at a barn dance, but is also exposed to the decorum of formal invitation and receiving line. At her school, bible study is a required subject. Like gym and grass hockey, a knowledge of the Christian religion is looked on as part of a liberal education.

Susan's class, which this year numbers 24 boarders and day girls, is larger than the school norm. It is still small enough, though, to permit the individual attention which the student needs.

In his sharply analytical "The Status Seekers," Vance Packard terms the private schools "hothouse democracies." This perhaps they are. But if the arrogant snobbery of the public school clique exists at St. Trinian's, the evidence has escaped me.

Where all wear uniform, the extent of a girl's wardrobe assumes secondary importance. Accomplishment, scholastic as well as athletic, is the measuring stick. The book prize winner and the swimmer who steps down with a cup draw equal applause.

What we like best about Susan's school—and what eases the rub when the surprisingly moderate tuition bills arrive—is that the student there is exposed daily to ethics and standards.

Whatever paths she may follow when St. Trinian's release her, these are as much a part of her school life as are those laced black shoes she detests.

VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1963 —PAGE 17

WEAPON USED

Murderer Attacked From Rear

George Down was murdered by someone who stood taller than he did, and got little or none of his victim's blood on his clothing.

Det.-Insp. Charles Webb today re-enacted for The Times the murder as city detectives have reconstructed it.

The 17-year-old delivery boy, who was killed in the Hudson's Bay Co. parkade two weeks ago, was struck down from behind.

The first blow broke the right earpiece of his glasses, left a bruise on his right shoulder, and likely sent him staggering, says the inspector.

The second blow was struck downwards in a long sweep, striking behind and above the right ear and slashing down past the lobe of the left ear.

FELED INSTANTLY

Bloodstains on the concrete indicated that the second blow felled the boy instantly, because there was no blood on his back, the inspector said.

The angle from which the blows were struck indicate that the murderer was right-handed, and the force with which they hit leads police to believe that the murder weapon was heavy, hard and had a handle.

"It could have been a tire iron, a hammer, or the blunt side of a hatchet," said the inspector.

A search for information about blood-stained clothing is still being pursued, but the chances of any blood hitting the murderer's clothes were reduced by:

The distance the murderer stood from his victim—the length of a hammer and the length of an arm;

BLOOD MISSED

And the fact that the force with which the blow fell drove most of the blood in a thick spurt off to the left of the victim—and the murderer.

Insp. Webb added that it is significant that three youths seen with Down in a booth in Coffee Mac's restaurant half an hour before the murder have not come forward.

The possibility that the trio "took Down for a ride" is being considered, he said.

"I just added more chords to what I already knew when I wrote 'Little Jewel' in 1957," he said.

The 41-year-old Victoria insurance salesman started strumming a guitar when he was 12 years old.

"I have added more chords to what I already knew when I wrote 'Little Jewel' in 1957," he said.

Beer Parlors Getting Set For Drought

One Victoria beer parlor is reported to have laid in 2,000 more bottles of beer because of a threatened strike of B.C. brewery workers.

Others are laying in sufficient supplies of draught and bottled beer to last several weeks.

"We have to protect our customers," the manager of a downtown parlor said, but he declined to say how much extra beer had been ordered.

Spokesman for Lucky Lager and Pacific Brewers Warehousing Ltd. in Victoria declined to give estimates as to how much extra beer has been ordered.

One report said an out-of-town parlor had laid in a four-months' supply.

WAIT AND SEE

Some beer parlors are following a wait-and-see policy while a government-supervised strike vote of brewery workers is underway. Results of the vote are expected Friday morning.

Members of locals 280 in Victoria and 300 on the mainland of the United Brewery, Flour, Cereals, Soft Drink and Distillery Workers of America have voted in favor of strike action.

Nearly 450 workers are involved in a dispute with Lucky Lager, Molson, Carling and O'Keefe breweries. About 75 of them are employed at the Lucky Lager brewery in Victoria.

The union seeks a wage increase of 13 cents an hour each year. The companies, so far, have offered a 13-cent total increase in a two-year contract.

Present base rate is $2.32 an hour. There are also disagreements on vacations and social security provisions.

Saanich Bigger Voters Fewer

ELECTION MEETINGS TONIGHT

Saunders from Saanich and Oak Bay with Attorney-General Robert Bonner at 8 in Lansdowne Junior High School; Esquimalt NDP candidate Geoff Mitchell at 8 in Metchosin Community Hall.

Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt ridings all show substantial increases in eligible voters over 1960.

But Saanich is down 341.

Figures turned in to the provincial registrar of voters today show there are 29,719 persons eligible to vote on Sept. 30 in Saanich.

In 1960, the last general election, there were 30,060.

These are the official figures, but registrar W. H. Ryan said they would be double-checked before polling day. However, this is more likely to reduce the number because persons who have died since 1960 or moved away are stricken off the list.

MOVED AWAY

The Saanich list is 1,200 higher than it was for a municipal plebiscite in 1961, but it is believed many persons have moved away from the north end of the riding which extends to Sidney, an electoral official said.

He said registrars have done the best they can in a limited period—only a week was allowed for registration, which closed Aug. 31.

But several other ridings have a smaller voter's list elsewhere in the province, he said.

The list of voters for Victoria totals 32,919, compared with 32,109 in 1960.

In Esquimalt there are 16,089, compared with 14,883.

In Oak Bay the increase is more than 1,000—a total of 13,936, compared with 12,632.

Mr. Roblin will speak for Davie at a Kamloops rally Sept. 19.

Davie says he's "delighted" and "very much encouraged" after a three-day stump of the riding.

Renewing his attacks on Premier Bennett for government secrecy, Mr. Fulton told a local meeting: "If I had been in the legislature, the premier would still be sitting there, and we would make him sit until he provided the answers to questions which the people's representatives are entitled to ask."

How things have changed for the once all-powerful Conservatives.

In historic Esquimalt riding the Pooley family, father Charles and son Harry, held the seat from 1892 to 1937, but for a four-year break 1907-11.

But today the riding that personified "Mr. Tory" in those years cannot field a Conservative candidate at all.

David Elrix, young Liberal who quit the navy earlier this year, is making his third bid for a nomination.

He first nosed around in Saanich, then stood, but lost out, in Esquimalt.

Now he's heading up to Campbell River Friday to seek the nomination for Comox.

"I really want to get into the fight and this time I think I'll be successful," he said.

Courtney Mayor Bill Moore, a previous candidate, won't be standing this time.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Not for Real!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I gave my fiancee a ring which I considered adequate for the time being. (I bought it at a loan shop.) I told her when I gave it to her that I knew it wasn't much, but I'd get her a better one when I could afford it. She accepted it, wore it for a week and then she returned it to me saying her mother had had it appraised and it was a fake diamond. She said I had cheapened her before her family and friends, and then she dropped me like a red hot poker. I am a commissioned officer in the state militia, and am supposed to be a leader of men, and this has made me look pretty foolish. My question is, was it proper etiquette for her mother to have the ring appraised?

TURNED DOWN
NO! But don't waste any tears over this. The girl wasn't real, either.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is being married. An aunt of mine belongs to the Moose. Neither my husband nor I belong, and we don't know anyone else who does. This aunt told my daughter that she is going to give her a wedding shower and invite all the ladies from the Moose. She says then she will find out who her friends are. I was furious when my daughter told me this, and said I would not stand for it. We don't want these people who have never met my daughter to buy gifts for her. How can I tell my aunt NO without hard feelings?

BURBANK

DEAR BURBANK: Tell her you appreciate her kindness, but she will have to find out who her friends are some other way. It is considered poor taste for relatives to give showers.

DEAR ABBY: When I first started to date I never went out with a boy who smoked because the smell of cigarette smoke on someone's breath made me sick. When I married my husband he didn't smoke, but about two years ago he took up the habit. I haven't enjoyed his kisses since, and he knows it. He has tried all the mouth washes, etc., but his kisses still have that cigarette flavor and I hate it. When I was pregnant (last year) it made me so nauseated I was actually sick. I have even tried to learn to smoke but I can't. Am I nuts?

MARCIE

DEAR MARGIE: No. Your husband is.

Shades of Christmas — In Winter Fedoras

By PENNY SAVER

Cranberry, green, dusty rose! Sound like Christmas in September? Not really—these are the latest colors in midday's winter bonnets. Beiges, mink tones, and peacock blue are also still very much in style.

To complement any ensemble, try either imitation or real fur. Imitation furs range in price from $12.95 to $26.95 and real furs from $27.50 up.

Bolas, priced at $12.95, though still the same general shape, are now shallower with narrow brims. These first appeared last year.

Grab your bow and arrow and head for the woods in a moss green Robin Hood hat. Priced from $27.50 to $35, these feature broken brim and the off-the-face look. Broken brim is actually a small jag which takes away the rounded appearance and gives a more streamlined effect.

Large brimmed and bowler hats are now being enhanced with huge bows in contrasting colors or pieces of molded leather. Smart for the older set or those who wear glasses are "up and down" brimmed fedoras.

Teen-agers wearing the longer, sleeker look in hairdos can still look chic on blustery days without the "tease, slip-off" scarves. Tams and jockey caps in velvet will hold the "do" in place and make you the picture of fashion. Tams can be worn with dark side out, or inverted to show a toning shade. Price is $3.95. Jockey caps are styled after the tam with a small peak.

If you are having trouble finding a hat to match a particular outfit, why not have one made? Shop I was in will make them to match.

TODAY'S RECIPE

BLONDE BROWNIE BARS

Half cup fresh dates, 1/2 cup butter or margarine, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 egg, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, 1/2 cup sifted all-purpose flour, 1/2 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup roasted diced almonds.

Cut dates medium fine. Melt butter and blend into brown sugar; cool slightly. Blend in egg and vanilla. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Stir into creamed mixture. Add dates and almonds, mixing only until evenly distributed. Spread in greased 9-inch square pan. Bake in 350-degree (moderate) oven 20 to 25 minutes, or until edges begin to pull away from sides of pan. Cool; cut into bars. Makes 16 to 20 bars.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naral Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naral Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to appearing and active. Advt.

Heirloom Ring Chosen by Bride

Churchills' 55th Anniversary

LONDON (UPI)—Sir Winston and Lady Clementine Churchill today quietly celebrated the 55th anniversary of the wedding that gossips more than a half century ago predicted would not last six months.

Friends said the famous couple had no special plans and would spend the whole day at Chartwell, the country home 22 miles south of London purchased by Sir Winston in 1922.

The former war-time prime minister, who will be 89 on Nov. 30, appears to have made as full a recovery as could be expected from the broken thigh accident on the Riviera in June, 1962. His health is "quite good for his age," a friend said.

But Lady Clementine was reported to have caused the family a bit of worry recently.

She was 78 on April 1.

A good part of the day was spent reading the mounds of congratulatory cards, notes and telegrams that poured in on the Churchills from all over the world.

The serenity of the occasion was in sharp contrast to that day in 1908 when an Edwardian dandy named Winston Churchill married a poor relation of the Earl of Airlie by the name of Clementine Hozier.

Thousands filled the streets outside St. Margaret's Church in London to get a glimpse of the couple. The event was comparable to a royal wedding and excitement ran high.

So did skepticism.

Churchill, a rather bumptious young politician with a brilliant record as a soldier and war correspondent, was considered unpredictable and stubborn.

Clementine Hozier was quiet, beautiful and poor. Everyone said they didn't have a chance to make their marriage work.

The prediction was: six months and it would be all over. Seldom have so many been so wrong.

The wedding launched the couple on a life that was to see a full measure of struggle, adversity—and triumph.

The couple always faced fate together, even when the pressing events of Second World War once took him far away, Churchill's spirit made his burden tolerable.

Now Lady Clementine

watches over Britain's "noble commoner" in his retirement.

While he was recovering from the broken thigh last year, she spent nearly every day by his hospital bed.

Sir Winston recovered sufficiently to return to the House of Commons for several visits earlier this year. But last May he announced that he will not seek re-election.

FUN TOUCHES

Imitation fur fabrics are styled in sportswear and simple toppers, while the majestic mink still graces the shoulders for evening wear. Fox boas add a touch of glamor for both the very young and those who think young. Furs were presented by Scuby's.

Black and brown were co-ordinated for fall favor. Also, knee-length patent boots were co-ordinated with casuals for taking the dog on a stroll.

The new season's walking suit is slender, long and tweedy. Double-breasted jackets with flap over pockets are ready for a ride on a magic carpet as they stepped out into the lime-light of a crystal chandelier against a black and gold arabesque background adorned with brilliant Turkish cushions.

In sportswear, the neck was muffed in high turtles and fabrics ranged from nubby poodle cloth to nylon in a Picasso print, complete with signature.

Black and brown were co-ordinated for fall favor. Also, knee-length patent boots were co-ordinated with casuals for taking the dog on a stroll.

Ballgowns shimmered, rustled and whispered of glamor. Skirts were narrow as an arrow with a long slit designed for ease of movement.

Grand finale was a wedding gown modelled by the "Gibson Girl," Linda Gibson, who was preceded down the long aisle by ring bearer, Peter Miller.

Music was by organist Reginald Stone and commentator was Mrs. David Deno.

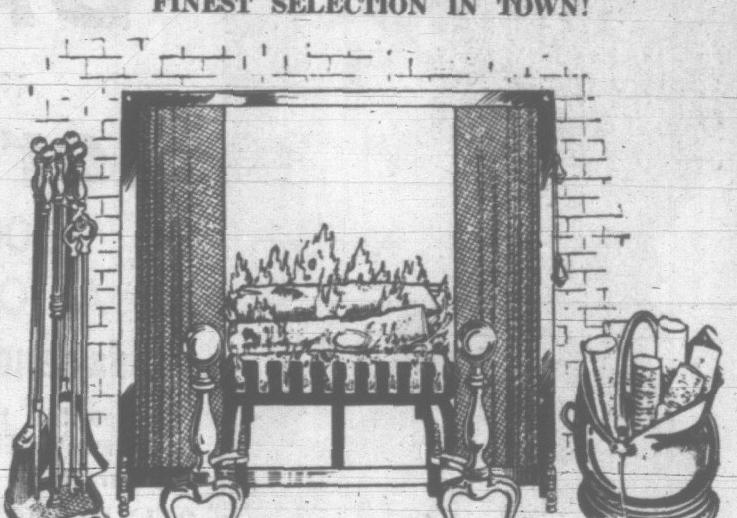

Models were Doreen Thompson, Linda Gibson, Judi Brown, Pat Shea, Celeste McLeod, Doris Mills, Bea Greenbank, Betty Lum, Michelle Marinker, Brenda McBeath, Lydia Dawson and Hazel Sherratt.

TEEN-AGE CANADA

Call Sally Ann For the Story

By JACK HUTTON

The next time you hear someone bemoaning the present generation of teen-agers, give him a telephone number to call — the local Salvation Army headquarters.

What he hears is guaranteed to produce an apology within two minutes.

The teen-age contribution to the Canadian Salvation Army movement is one of the least-publicized but easily one of the most heartwarming stories in Canada today.

Fifteen hundred young people between the ages of 13 and 20 proved it last weekend during a three-day meeting in Toronto, discussing everything from emotional problems to modern emphasis on sex.

The Canadian Corps Cadets attracted young people from every part of Canada, not to mention the observers from Norway, Mexico, Jamaica and Bermuda.

Monthly Project

All of the young people involved are in the Salvation Army's six-year Bible study course back in their home towns. But that, I learned, is only part of their contributions to their communities.

Almost every local group has a monthly project to help some part of its community. It might be a concert. It might be carrying baskets of food. But it is always done quietly, rarely attracting public attention.

I asked David Molton, an 18-year-old delegate from Winfield, Man., what had attracted him to the Bible study classes.

"Well, when you get to a certain age, you want to find answers to questions," he said.

"The Bible, I've found, is the best place to go for this. I've been in the local Bible study group since the age of 13, and I've found that what you learn there carries over into your outside life."

David, he added later, had another reason for being interested in the Salvation Army movement: his father is Lt.-Col. A. G. Molton, in charge of all Salvation Army activities in Manitoba.

FLQ Suspect Flees

MONTREAL (UPI) — There were unofficial reports here Wednesday that Gilles Pruneau, a second alleged member of the Quebec Liberation Front, has fled Canada on the eve of arraignment of 17 accused terrorists.

No fossil records of pre-dawn men have been found, so we can assume that the American aborigines migrated from the Old World after the modern race of man had de-vived. I asked. Does it seem "square" or unusual to them? "Most people ask the same questions that you are," replied David. "But after awhile you find them coming back to find out more. They realize that you are sincere and this impresses them more than anything else."

Fun, Too

Belonging to a Salvation Army group, David emphasized, isn't all work and study. He has played euphonium for some time—and played in fact, a solo at an evening concert of the national meeting.

Purpose of the Congress, its organizers told me, was to "intensify" the attitudes that the delegates develop in their study sessions. Fifteen hundred young people found out that others besides themselves were wondering about the same problems.

And, even more important, all found that the same rules of conduct and standards could meet any problem that came up. When you think of it, that's a good thing for anyone to learn—isn't it?

Song Rackets

John Fowler, 19, of Halifax, N.S., read our recent column on getting songs published and was moved to write the following letter.

"I enjoyed your piece on the shady types who take advantage of would-be songwriters. But oh, how I wish I'd read something like this a year ago.

"The Bible, I've found, is the best place to go for this. I've been in the local Bible study group since the age of 13, and I've found that what you learn there carries over into your outside life."

One year ago—it must have been a particularly weak moment—I saw an advertisement that asked for contributions from beginning songwriters. What I didn't realize was that I'd have to pay.

"I sent in my song and then received a letter saying it would be published—providing I sent a cheque or money order for $50. There were other charges if I wanted it 'merchandized' to radio stations.

"I didn't send the money, of course, but I've received a barrage of letters ever since. And so far I haven't seen my music returned. More power to you for warning other young people who might make the same mistake."

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Miss Timi Yuro was on the phone to me practically crying . . . and if you don't mind, I would like to repeat that "Miss" and put it in caps. MISS. Like that.

"I feel like I don't know who I am," she groaned from the depths of her despondency.

"Some people think I'm Japanese with that name. Some people think I'm a boy, a little Japanese boy. I've got telegrams and letters addressed to MR. Timi Yuro."

"I was wondering about that," I said. "Somebody was asking me if you were the Russian astronaut."

"No, not that!" moaned Miss Timi Yuro, a Chicago-born blonde whose father came from Abruzzi, Italy. She is singing around the best clubs everywhere. "Don't make it worse, please. I was crying about it this morning as it was."

"My name," she continued, speaking dejectedly from her hotel, "is Rosemary Timothy Yuro."

"Timothy?" I said.

"My godfather was Irish. He insisted on 'Timothy.' Miss Timi Yuro said, 'I grew up in northwest Chicago and they called me Ro-Ro (for Rosemary). We moved to Los Angeles. One day in school I was walking down the hall. Somebody had found out my name and yelled 'Timothy' at me."

"I didn't mind. I thought it was a joke. Then it got to be Timmy. One day my girl friend in school said, 'For crying out loud, if they're going to call you Timmy, let's spell it different!'"

"Timi" it became and was when she began recording.

"They said it was a great name," she remembered. "They said 'We could change your name to Annie Bell or something, but we think you're crazy.' I said, 'I want to keep my own name.'"

"And what happens?" (Sniffles on the other end of the phone.)

"I get flowers to Mr. Timi Yuro, telegrams to Mr. Timi Yuro. The operator says, 'Long distance calling Mr. Timi Yuro.' And the papers! If I stink, I stink; if I'm good, I'm good. Nothing about my singing. Just about my name!"

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: The girl said to her mother, "I know he's rich, but he's too old to be considered eligible." Her mother said, "You mean, dear, he's too rich to be considered old."

REMEMBERED QUOTES: A simile—"as ridiculous as the British public in one of its periodical fits of morality." (T. B. Macaulay)

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "I have a friend who plays the violin exactly as Yehudi Menuhin does. Under his chin." (Joey Adams)

STEP SMARTLY—A marching division of the Patricia Dufour Wrenette Corps shows prowess which won the corps the national general efficiency award. Announcement, made by the Navy League of Canada headquarters in Toronto, names the corps as the most efficient in gunnery, boat-work, communications, pilotage, navigation, seamanship, sailing and other subjects. Corps is open to girls between 14 and 18 years of age. Those wishing to join should report to the commanding officer, Lieut. Audrey Stevens at Rainbow, foot of Robert Street, on Friday evening at 7:15.

'Real' Trade Bloc Urged by Douglas

AMSTERDAM (AP)—T. C. Douglas, leader of Canada's New Democrat Party, told the Socialist International Congress here Wednesday that he hopes the Common Market and the European Free Trade Area (EMTA) "will not become an inward looking market" if they merge.

He emphasized that the U.S. and Canadian economies are not complementary and that Canada has a $1,000,000 deficit every year in its trade balance with the United States.

"We are only able to meet this by a favorable balance in our trade with the United Kingdom and other Commonwealth members," he said.

He asked the European socialists to work for association of the Commonwealth with the Common Market and the EFTA so that a real Atlantic trade bloc can develop.

The EFTA is made up of seven European nations other than the six that comprise the Common Market.

They are from the north and east—Democrats and Liberal Republicans—as well as the conservative midwest. With Southerners overwhelmingly opposed to any new civil rights measures, the President must turn to these non-southerners for crucial support.

Nearly 40 Congressmen returning from Labor Day talks with voters in their home districts said they found emotions ranging from vague uneasiness, to indifference, sympathy with the southern Negro, and feelings of being pushed too far too fast.

If any conclusions could be drawn, they were that northerners and midwesterners want to see the Negro's lot improved in the south but do not want to see them move into a house next door.

'Don't Want Negroes Next Door'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Kennedy is trying to move the colored in with us."

"My people back home are for everything but open housing."

"In pushing the rights of one group, we may be trampling the rights of another."

"They don't want Bobby Kennedy coming in here and telling the little hotel keeper what to do."

These are the comments of Congressmen, some of them quoting the folks back home directly, who may decide the fate of President Kennedy's civil rights legislation.

'DOUBLE TALK, WEASEL WORDS'

Ontario Hustings Rock With Pension Battling

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The federal government's portable pension scheme has turned out to be a portable issue—carried out of the federal arena to become one of the liveliest topics so far in Ontario's general election campaign.

Monday, Premier Peter Robarts said he hoped the pension question had been laid to rest for the rest of the campaign. But Wednesday, with voting day just two weeks away, hot words on the subject came from all three major party leaders.

The premier accused federal Health Minister Judy LaMarsh of playing provincial politics when she said Tuesday Mr. Robarts' stand on pensions was unclear. He said he will deal directly with Prime Minister Pearson on the subject from now on.

Premier Robarts Monday was the only premier to personally appear at a federal-provincial conference on the subject in Ottawa. He said his government agreed to the principle of a federal plan, and was willing to alter its own scheme accordingly.

Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer repeated his charges that Mr. Robarts is acting in the interests of private insurance companies and is trying to block the federal scheme in favor of his government's provincial pension plan.

New Democratic Party Leader Donald C. MacDonald said the provincial joined the assault with a challenge to the Ontario government to get out of the pension business and leave the field to the federal plan.

At the last session of the Ontario legislature the Progressive Conservative government passed a funded pension plan to take effect Jan. 1, 1965. Contributions would be invested with private insurance companies and built up over a period of years.

Premier Robarts Monday was read off quoted remarks by Miss LaMarsh, and said: "It has become impossible to deal with her. I have no other course but to deal directly with the prime minister on this question in future."

He said his Ottawa statement had put forward Ontario's position with "utmost clarity."

The government of the oil sheikdom of Kuwait plans a $5610,000 centre for the physically handicapped.

$1,000 THEFT REPORTED—EVENTUALLY

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police learned today of a $1,000 jewel robbery—and they got the news by long-distance telephone.

Morris Lloyd, telephoning from Port Alberni, reported that a black case containing the gems was stolen overnight from his car which had been parked on a service station lot.

He had not reported the loss in Vancouver, Mr. Lloyd said, because he was in no position to catch a ferry home.

Magistrate Says Bottles Held Liquor

DUNCAN—A request from local lawyer Jack Davie to dismiss a charge of illegal liquor sale against local taxi operator Jan Rozendaal, was refused by Magistrate Colin Anderson, in court Wednesday.

Mr. Davie asked to have the charge dismissed on the grounds that the Crown had failed to prove that two sealed 12-ounce bottles of rye whisky in fact contained liquor.

An appeal was scheduled for today in Victoria.

The charge was laid after Mr. Rozendaal allegedly sold the bottles to a plainclothes RCMP constable Sept. 2. The court was informed that six full bottles of whisky and 13 one-dozen cases of beer were seized at Rozendaal's garage, and four 12-ounce bottles of rye whisky at the taxi office.

Magistrate Anderson stated that, from the evidence produced by the crown prosecutor, A. I. MacDonald, he had the right to assume that the two bottles entered as exhibits in the court room contained liquor.

DUNCAN—Asking for a school crossing overpass is becoming the thing to do on Vancouver Island, it was indicated here today.

Following the successful agitation for an overpass at Jingle Pot road, Nanaimo, it is possible Duncan parents may ask for a similar structure on the Koksilah stretch of the Trans-Canada highway, about two miles south of here.

At the point in question the speed limit is 50 miles an hour. A previous request from the parents of the Koksilah school children to have the speed limit reduced to 40 miles an hour was refused by the Department of Highways.

Complaints have also been received at the local police station of motorists failing to stop on this stretch of highway, and other points in the district, for school bus loading or discharging passengers.

In Nanaimo Wednesday MLA Dan Campbell told parents it

DUNCAN—Thirty-eight boys residing in the Cowichan Valley commenced the fall activities of the Admirals Mainguy Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps Tuesday night at the Maple Bay barracks.

PIERS ISLAND BARS HUNTERS

PIERS ISLAND—Island property owners have resolved to close Piers Island to hunters.

The Provincial Game branch will keep it under surveillance, and it will be posted.

W. S. MacNutt, president of Piers Island Association, said that hunting was making the island hazardous for people as well as a large flock of sheep and two horses.

Other new courses offered are: farm machinery maintenance and repair, gas engine maintenance and repair, driver course held in conjunction with the local driving school, familiarization with auto mechanics for the car owner, floral arrangements, little drama, appreciation, band music and short story writing.

Deep Cove Works Toward Water System

DEEP COVE—The efforts of a group of residents in this area over a number of years are expected to be rewarded next week when an authorization for a water supply system will be sought.

Ratepayers will meet at the Legion Hall, Mills Road, at 8 p.m. Sept. 20 to give authority to the laying of mains and construction of the system.

The system will distribute water to Deep Cove, Patricia Bay and Towner Park, areas served by the recently incorporated Deep Cove Water District.

A minimum of 175 customers, consuming 5,000 gallons, will provide a basic figure of $10 a month to cover the installation. Prices are based on current costs, and were reached after many months of investigation and with provincial government surveys, with the district's engineer also working.

Special guests were William Hawkins, commissioner of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, and Dick Colby of the Telegrams were read from Geoff Edgeclow, Victoria, and Bill Wainwaring, Vancouver, president of the Tyee Club. A letter from Recreation and Conservation Minister Earle Westwood mentioned the contribution Mr. Maclean has made to the progress and development of Campbell River and the northern part of the Island.

Mr. Maclean was presented with a life membership in the Chamber of Commerce by past president Les Bevington. Rod Haig-Brown, on behalf of his friends, presented him with a painting of the area done by Mary Weiler.

BROWN JAILEDDriver Must Repay $22,000

VANCOUVER (CP) — Loomis car company driver Douglas Brown, sentenced to three years Wednesday for a king-sized theft, was also ordered to compensate the company for $22,000 of his loot that is still missing.

Magistrate Gordon Scott passed sentence 48 hours after Brown pleaded guilty to a charge of theft over $50. Brown admitted taking more than $50,000 in cash and cheques on the Victoria Day weekend and fleeing to Brazil.

Most of the money has been found.

Lawyers said that if Brown did not or could not repay the missing money, liens could be obtained against his earnings after his release from prison.

Magistrate Scott said Brown had been employed by Loomis for nine years, rising to the post of custodian.

"This is a very responsible position and one involving the highest degree of trust by his employer," the magistrate said.

Brown admitted carrying out

Orthodox Doukhobors 'No Problem'

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — J. P. Stochnoff, a Doukhobor representative visiting Saint John this week, says there is no Doukhobor problem in Canada. There is only a Sons of Freedom problem.

Mr. Stochnoff, a British Columbia man now living in Calgary and currently arranging speaking engagements across Canada, say about the only thing the radical Sons, who number about 1,300, have in common with the 30,000 Doukhobors is a common ethnic origin.

He said Doukhobors, who have religious beliefs similar to Quakers, have identified themselves completely as Canadian citizens, with a high ratio taking college education, inter-marrying with other Canadians and generally being assimilated into the Canadian way of life.

He blamed the Sons of Freedom difficulties on the radical teachings of a fanatical leader who came to Canada a few years ago.

Ottawa Determined To Assist Eskimos

OTTAWA (CP) — Northern Affairs Minister Arthur Laing, returning from a three-week 7,000-mile tour of the Arctic regions, said Wednesday night he is disappointed with the progress of education among Eskimos in northern Quebec.

In an airport interview, he said however that the Eskimo people have learned that education is important to their advancement and are concerned about the future of northern education for the native children.

Mr. Laing dismissed as unfounded assertions, rumors, and conflicting denials that have gained currency among the Eskimos, that the federal government will turn over education responsibilities to the Province of Quebec.

TRUSTEESHIP GOES AHEAD

(See Story Page 18)

OTTAWA (UPI) — Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson today denied suggestions that U.S. Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz opposes the Canadian government's plans to clamp a government-appointed trusteeship on this country's maritime unions.

The prime minister reiterated his government's intention to bring in the legislation when parliament resumes Sept. 30 in an attempt to end the Great Lakes dispute.

DRIVER TERMED MENACE

Stanley Hansen, 2120 Millstream Road, today was sentenced to two years in jail for the hit-and-run death Sept. 4 of Mrs. Anna Neilson.

He pleaded guilty to the charge in Saanich police court this afternoon.

Hansen's weeping wife was led from the courtroom as she heard Magistrate J. A. Byers call her husband "a man of violence and a menace to law-abiding people."

Hansen's record, read to the court, included two previous convictions for hit and run driving, three speeding convictions, a conviction for failing to stop for a policeman, and convictions for wilful damage, assault, and creating a public disturbance.

His record was in two names. He had previously obtained a driver's licence under the name of Ralph Stanley Peters.

In a signed statement to Saanich police, Hansen, who turned himself in, said his brother Martin was in the car with him when he ran down Mrs. Neilson in the early hours of Sept. 4.

HURLED 60 FEET

Her body, almost cut in half, was flung 60 feet into a ditch on the north side of the Trans-Canada Highway near Tillimuk.

She had evidently been walking to her home, 470 Thetis Crescent, after an altercation in town with her husband, AE Charles Neilson.

PRINCE RUPERT (CP) — The fishboat of Hector Ridley, 37, has been found drifting empty today and the fisherman is believed to have fallen overboard and drowned. The boat was found in Kitkatla Channel, just north of here.

Quebec Bank Bandits Get $3,000

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (CP) — Two hooded men, one armed with a sub-machinegun, held up a branch of Banque Provinciale at Beaucecourt, across the St. Lawrence River from Trois-Rivières, and escaped today with an estimated $3,000. The manager, Mrs. Claude Poquin, was counting the money at the time.

The bandits escaped in a waiting car with a third man at the wheel.

Brawl Erupts at U.S. Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — A shouting, fist-swinging demonstration erupted today when the chairman of the House of Representatives committee on un-American activities ordered applauding young people out of a hearing room.

The violence came as the committee heard testimony about a journey to Cuba by more than 50 U.S. students who defied a state department travel ban.

MONTREAL (CP) — Two armed men escaped with a $5,000 payroll today after attacking and pistol-whipping Roger Viger, an employee of Modern Steelworks Limited. Viger was also shot in the foot.

Jodoin Lashes U.S. Boss of SIU

OTTAWA (CP) — President Claude Jodoin of the Canadian Labor Congress today accused U.S. Seafarers' Union boss Paul Hall of trying to apply "dictatorial methods" to the entire North American labor movement.

Mr. Jodoin charged that Mr. Hall is trying to use his position as president of the AFL-CIO's maritime trades department to divert public attention from the lawless record of the Seafarers' International Union in Canada.

BENNETT ON TOUR

Sacred Hoopla Fails to Draw In Cariboo

By JOHN MIKA
Times Staff Reporter

PRINCE GEORGE — Diversions of Peace River to allow construction of the key Portage Mountain dam begins Monday, Premier W. A. C. Bennett said here Wednesday night.

In jubilant mood he addressed about 50 supporters who came out to see him during a station stop, the largest seen since his campaign train started out from North Vancouver Tuesday, hooked to PG freight No. 15. "A lot of critics said that he would never build the Peace River dam, but I want to say that it's right on schedule," he said. "We are bound now for the great Peace River empire and in a few years when it is developed and Prince George is its distribution centre, this city will be larger and more important than Edmonton."

Premier Bennett's spirits must have sagged a little during the day. With the stage set for political hoopla—private car, milk run stop, loud speakers and a freshly recorded campaign song—only small and quiet crowds turned up to greet him. But a wife from B.C. Hydro chairman Gordon Shrum regarding the diversion seems obviously pleased him.

"Apparently the truth hurts him, but I intend to continue to expose the truth . . ."

'When He Screams He's Hurt'

KAMLOOPS (CP) — Progressive Conservative Leader E. David Fulton says accusations by Premier Bennett that Tories are smearing him is nothing new.

Appearing on television here Wednesday night, Mr. Fulton declared:

"Bennett always screams when he is hurt—and the extent of the hurt may be judged by the volume of his screams."

Premier Bennett runs one of the most powerful provincial political machines in Canada, he said, and whenever anyone exposes the faults of his Social Credit administration, the premier says he is being smeared.

"Apparently the truth hurts him, but I intend to continue to expose the truth . . ."

TEAM GETS BIG HAND FROM FAN

SWINDON, Eng. (AP) — Groundkeepers of the City Soccer Club combed the environs of its playing field today for a man's hand. The hand is artificial.

A club supporter, waving in delight at the team's final goal in a victory over Manchester City Tuesday night, waved so hard the hand flew off into the darkness.

The supporter, who reported his loss by telephone, said he was too embarrassed to give his name but would phone in from time to time to see whether the hand had been found.

British travel agency for one of its "vacation package" tours, was reported missing shortly after midnight.

It had taken off from Gatwick Airport shortly after 8 p.m. and was last heard from by French traffic control about 30 minutes before it was scheduled to land at Perpignan.

Heavy storms were lashing the region and meteorologists at the airport said the weather was "incredibly bad."

Despite the weather, helicopters and planes went out shortly after dawn to search for the missing aircraft.

The Viking had been chartered by a Lancashire travel agency. The tourists paid $112 for a 12-day package vacation in Spain's Costa Brava, a few miles south of this French Mediterranean resort.

A travel agency spokesman said there were no children aboard.

SAIGON TEEN-AGERS IN ROCK-TOSSING RIOT

SAIGON (AP) — Bayonet-wielding South Vietnamese troops arrested more than 100 teen-age students in a rock-throwing riot at a technical school today.

The riot followed midnight arrests of other students, and a morning of tension between troops and teen-agers at high schools and university faculty branches throughout Saigon.

Student unrest, temporarily squashed last week after more than 2,000 students were arrested, was rising again.

Truckloads of riot police and troops in full battle gear roared from one potential trouble spot to another in Saigon.
